SCHOOL OF THE YEAR

HORTON WATKINS HIGH SCHOOL

O.K. Paul, (insert 20 second delay here)

I always hate signing your yearbook because it puts a lot of pressure on me to do something really original or funny. Well, I don't have to. I've already done some pretty ridiculous things, completely unintentionally. Do you remember....

1) CRASH..."Help me Paul!" Crash-Crash "Help! Help!"
2) LOOK.... It's CHUD!
3) SPLAASHH...."Ben, you got soda everywhere!"
4) Zug-Zug-Zug-Zug

You see? We've done some pretty weird things together. Perhaps we can get together and turn California upside down (or at least 45° to the right.) If not, well may you live until the Chud grows hair.

Hey, Paul,

I'm glad I met you in eighth grade. I hope you have a great Summer. Whatever you decide to do I hope you make the best of it. I'll see you sometime, until then take good care of yourself.

P.S. Call me 997-4807 Friend Forever,

Hi Paul,
don't it exciting? we're graduating! I can't believe we've made it through here - 4yrs. Don't forget to have fun next year and partying it up!

Bonney McDonald

Paul,
I want to thank you for all the good times we had at Dean. Hope you have a good summer. Don't forget about me. I'm really going to miss you. Don't forget that we did have some good times. Become friends forever.

We, the seniors of Horton Watkins High School, have been waiting for this year ever since we can remember. It is our senior year — the year we would be "big man on campus," set the trends, and most importantly be respected by the underclassmen.

However, we are not the only dent made in history by this year, nineteen hundred and eighty four. More importantly it is the year of George Orwell's 1984. Orwell wrote this novel in 1948 with a prediction or warning of what the world would be like in the next 36 years. His classic deals with a utopian society run by a government called "the party." Individualism was scarce, but where it existed "the party" made every attempt to stamp it out. The citizens of this society were under constant surveilance of "big brother," the leader of "the party." He watched everyone all the time and no one dared to go against him.

The party had a slogan — WAR IS PEACE, FREEDOM IS SLAVERY, IGNORANCE IS STRENGTH. The slogan, the party, and Big Brother are all reminders of how much control "the party" had over man.

The ideas presented in 1984 left the reader with the thought and feeling of dispair. This novel definitely makes one think about what the future holds. Could the society of Big Brother and his party ever take place or is it just the work of a talented writer?

"Wouldn't it be neat if kids could stay in school all their lives and hide from the world?"
Beaver Cleaver

"A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere. Before him I may think aloud."
Ralph Waldo Emerson

"High school regulations are chillingly similar to the army's."
Ira Glasser

"The most luxurious possession, the richest treasure anybody has, is his personal dignity."

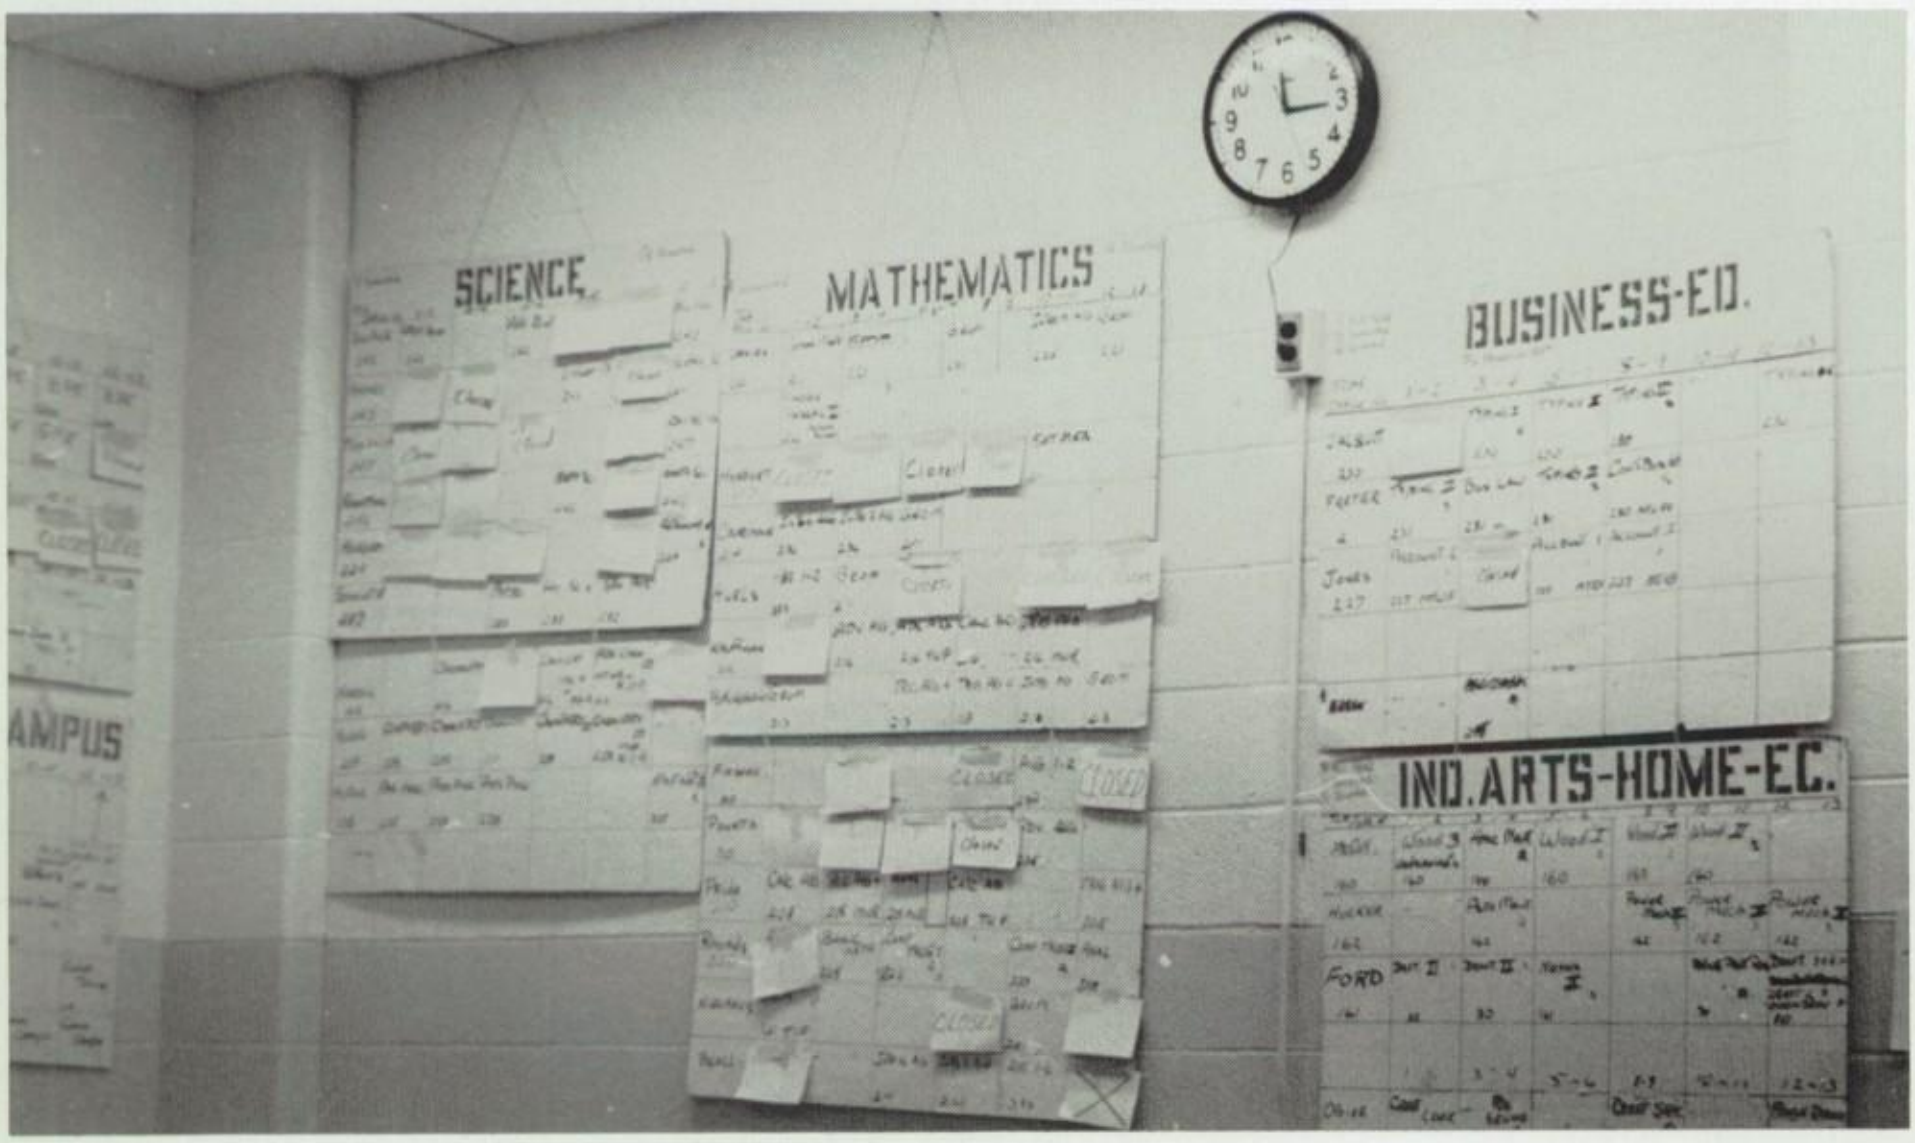
EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP

What Is Today's Education Worth?

Private Education VS' Public Education

The 10 Top Schools In The Nation



Ladue's Board Prepares For Successful '84 Year

Mr. Don Kettlekamp, Dir. Aux. Svcs.; Dr. Robert McGilligan, Psychologist; Mr. Richard Brown, Business Manager; Mr. Warren Green, Dir. of I.P.C.

The Board of Education of the School District of the City of Ladue is composed of six representatives, elected by the citizens of the district. One of the Board of Education's major concerns is to establish and maintain the policies under which the district operates as it serves the educational needs of the community. The Board meets with the District Superintendent, Dr. Charles McKenna, and other personnel monthly. One of the goals of the meetings is to keep a strong spirit of cooperation among employees, students, and the community. Although the Board members meet monthly, other district personnel work daily at the Board Office handling routine matters. Everyone connected with the Board Office is concerned with the students' academic education whether the student intends to continue in college, in the business world, or in the military.

Administrators Help Faculty, Students

There are five administrators at Horton Watkins High School, dedicated to helping students and faculty. Head principal is Dr. William Raisch with Dr. Robert Bannister, Mr. John Hillwick, Dr. Newton Siegel, and Mr. James Wagner serving as assistant principals.

Each assistant principal has a separate responsibility as well as working as a team with Dr. Raisch. For example, Mr. Wagner has a part of his duties coordinating sports activities and classroom budgets; Dr. Bannister is in charge of scheduling; Mr. Hillwick is in charge of scheduling summer school programs; Dr. Siegel handles parking lot matters and computer-related programs.

Besides these duties, each principal does his part to help faculty, students, and activities.

Students Seek Counselors' Help

The four guidance counselors help students in selecting courses that will benefit the student as much as possible, while at the same time making certain that requirements for graduation are met. The counselors take into consideration the individual's choice and preference for classes and help as much as possible in fitting the class to the student. The counselors also help in solving problems that may exist between the student and the teacher, acting as a mediator in some cases.

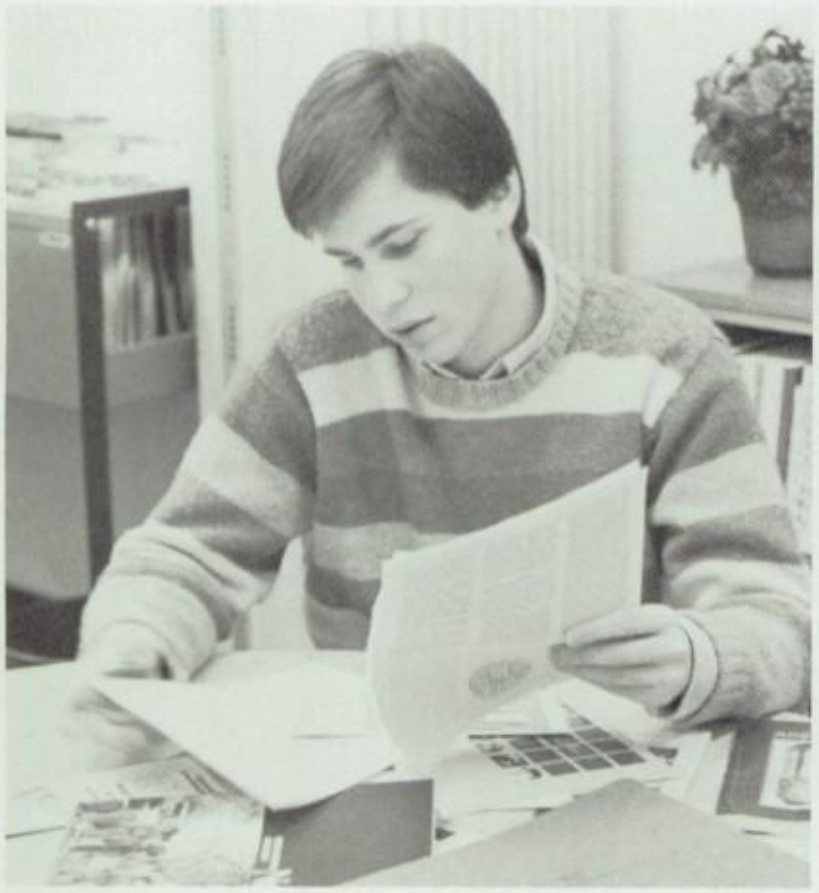
College And Career Office Helps Students In Making Selections

When students begin their junior year at Horton Watkins High School, they begin to consider a college choice. One of the purposes of the College and Career Office is to help students choose the most appropriate college that will fit their needs.

Miss Bonny Wallace and Mr. Jim Sinner are the College and Career Office counselors. They help students to choose a college by using the computer that is stored with information on almost every college. This information is available to all students, and either Miss Wallace or Mr. Sinner can put any requirements that a student may require in a college into the computer. The computer will then print out a list of different colleges that fit the specific requirements.

College and Career Office personnel will also send to colleges grade transcripts, SAT and ACT scores the student wishes such information to be mailed to.

David Rothman is assisted by Mr. Sinner on the computer print-out machine in finding a college that might fit the requirements set forth.



Ty Levine uses the materials available in the College and Career Office.

English Offerings Abound

One of the largest departments at Horton Watkins High School is the English department, which offers a very large variety of courses from which to choose. Because of the size of the English department, such courses as Cinema, Short Story, LEEP, Oral Communications, Exploration Television, and Advanced Composition can be offered. These courses help improve students' communication skills through class seminar discussions and individual conferences with teachers.

One of the more popular courses at the high school is LEEP, which involves reading and then reporting on the books read to the teacher in charge of the class. Students read at their own pace and get to choose the reading materials that interest them.

Students will find that each English course will greatly contribute to a better understanding of the English language because of the variety of methods and materials used to meet the students' needs.

Mrs. Sanders' seminar group consists of Monica Fouche (back to camera), Barry Menzel, Mrs. Sanders, Julie Evans, and Jenny Becker covering a grammar assignment for a sophomore English class.

Mrs. Rehr observes her class taking an exam.

Ms. Stelmach grades some English class compositions.

Among his numerous office library books, Mr. Heyde, English department chairman, appears deep in thought.

Mr. Heger and Susan Appel, during a conference, discuss methods she may use to improve her research paper.

Ms. Mandelstamm and Debbie Kaskowitz chuckle over the ironies presented in Debbie's English assignment.

Mathematics Courses Add Up

"Yeah, yeah, hooray, off to Math class we go", shouts a group of students gallavanting down the hall.

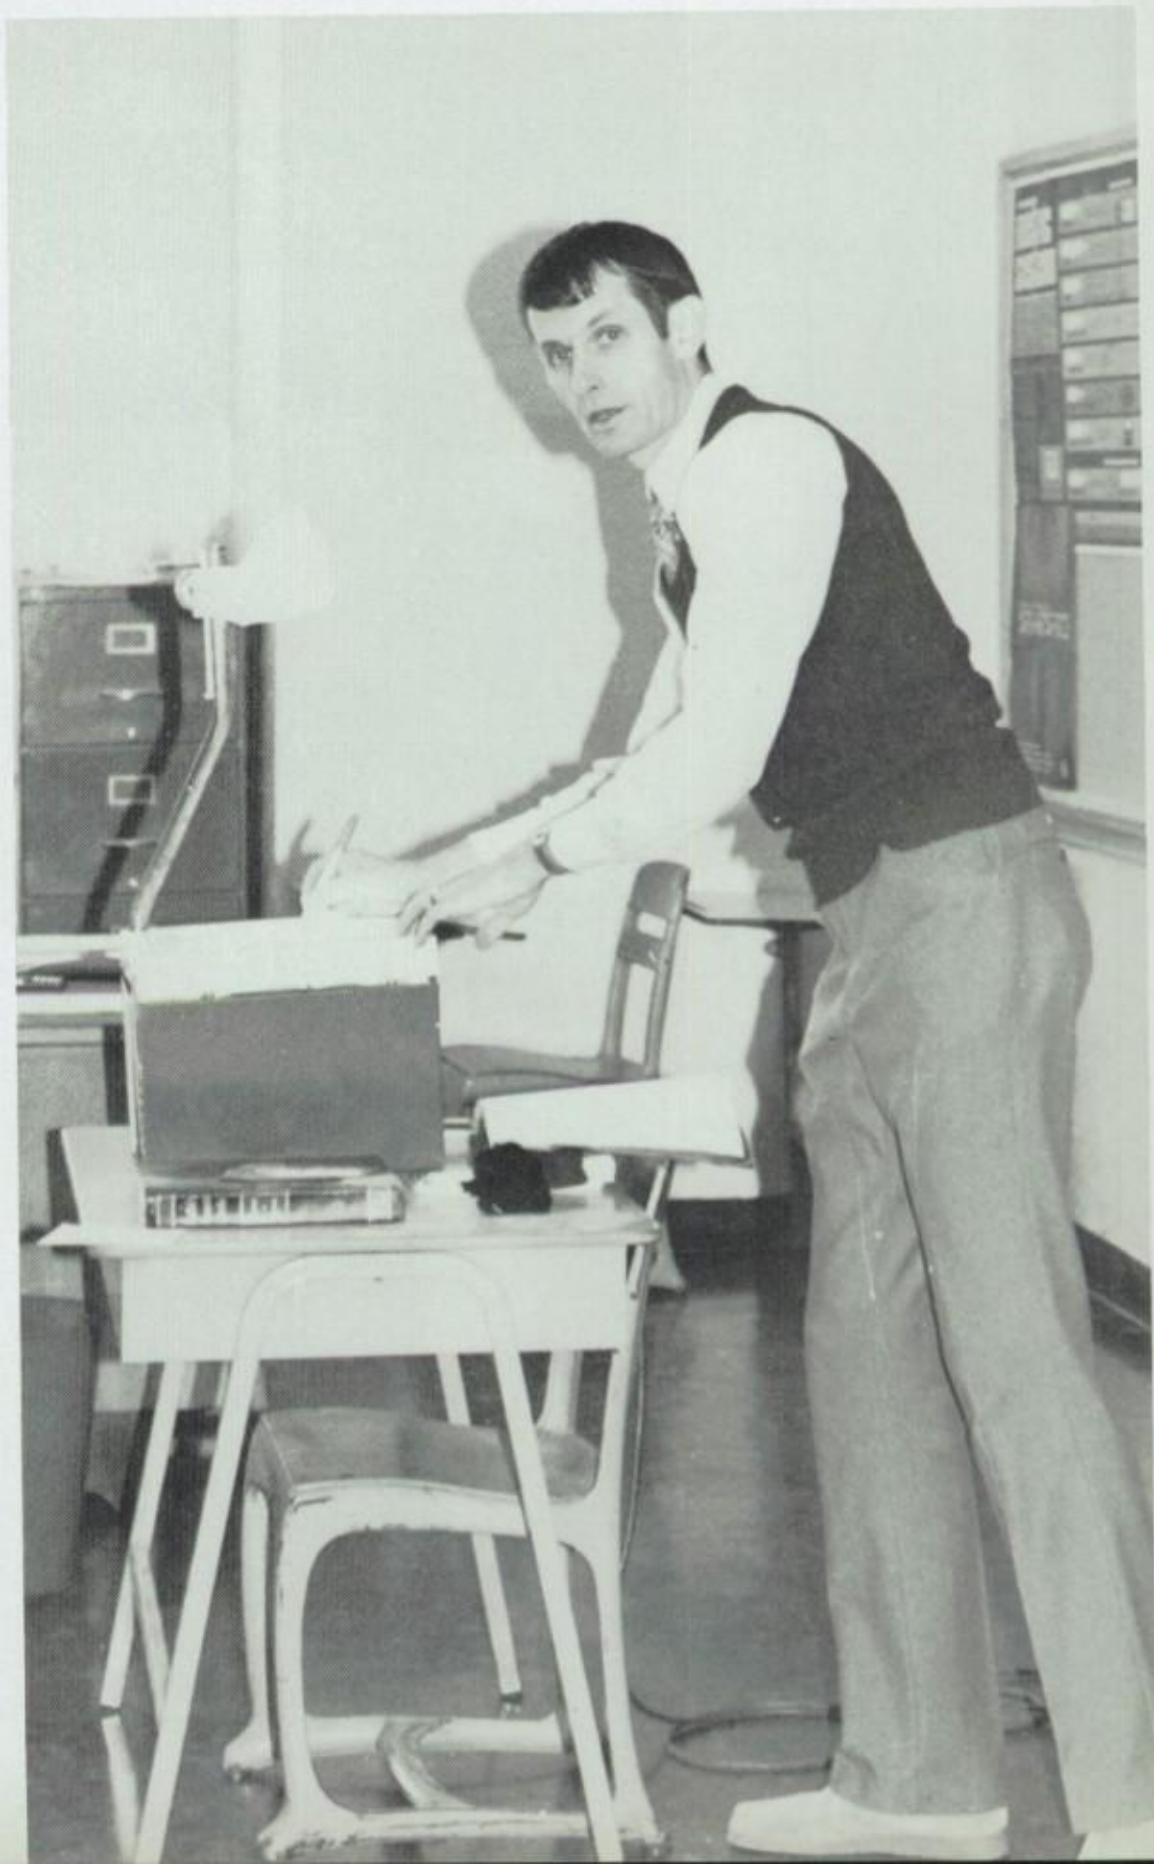
Andrea is on her way to Calculus, Joe is on his way to Trig, Kathy is on her way to Algebra, Tina is on her way to Computer Programming, and Kenny is on his way to Geometry.

These students are very lucky to have such a wide variety of math courses offered at Ladue High School. There is one math credit required for students to graduate, but the large variety of math courses offered are structured so students who wish to accell in math can do so by earning four math credits.

Most courses are offered on a full-year credit basis, but there are different courses offered on a semester and even a quarter credit basis. One semester course is Commercial Math. Quarter courses consist of Computer Programming I and II, Introduction to Probability and Statistics and Math for SAT.

The variety of math courses and the way the math system at our school is set up proves very favorable to Ladue students.

Mr. Jim Davies solves another math problem with the help of the overhead projector.



Mr. Kauffman helps Wendy Gellman with a math assignment as Irene Lemchuk awaits her turn to discuss a problem.

Latonya Smith, Mr. Polkinghorne, and Nick Perkins all find that mathematics can be fun at times.

Students Study The World

The Social Studies department teaches a variety of subjects such as World and American History and courses in Psychology and Politics as well as numerous others. The aims of the Social Studies department are to familiarize the students with the world and enable them to see where they fit into society and how each one can contribute to maintain and improve the world's social, economic, and political systems.

Sophomores study World History, juniors are involved with American Studies; and at the senior level, most courses are innovated with a large choice offered. Although seniors are not required to take Social Studies courses, many choose to continue in such areas as Missouri History and Social Psychology.

Students Perform Lab Work

This is the story of Dr. Heckel and Mr. Jive, they are a person who feels good to be alive," exclaims the typical science buff.

Curious students who find the mysteries of science intriguing are given the opportunities to excel and perfrom many laboratory experiments.

The basic science courses offered by the Science department consist of Earth Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Students can branch off to more specific areas such as Astronomy, Advanced Biology, Advanced Chemistry, and Science V.

In the Astronomy course, students study astronomical history, stars, and galaxies. Advanced Chemistry, Advanced Biology, and Science V extend the study of concepts established in Biology, Chemistry, and various science experiments.

The courses available in the Science department allow students to get a well-rounded science education.

Goals Set By P.E. Staff

The Physical Education department sets goals at accomplish each year in the best interests of the students. At the beginning of this school year, all students in gym classes were required to take a physical fitness test consisting of sit-ups, shuttle run, standing long jump, 50 yard dash, 600 yard run, and pull-ups.

Besides the team sports such as football, track, and soccer, physical education classes are offered in such activities as swimming, archery, weight lifting, and tennis so every student should find something to keep him physically fit.

Foreign Languages Spoken Here

The Foreign Language department offers Horton Watkins students the opportunity to study languages and cultures of other lands. Students can choose among Spanish, German, French, Latin, and Hebrew. In the French, German, and Spanish courses, the first and second year classes are conversational. These courses help students establish a practical vocabulary as well as a reasonable speaking ability. Students find that by learning about other people and their cultures, they will better appreciate their own way of life.

Music Department Pursues Talents

The Vocal and Instrumental Music departments offer a wide variety of courses and opportunities to Horton Watkins students. The Instrumental department teaches students how to play instruments, from drums to guitars. The Vocal department helps train students' voices. Both departments are very visible not only in school classes but through activities in and out of school such as concerts, musical recitals, and school musical performances.

Both the Vocal and Instrumental departments give students opportunities to improve and use the skills gained in music in a variety of ways.

Art Department Develops Creativity

In the years to come students may be checking out famous works of art that perhaps will be signed by fellow students they knew at Horton Watkins High School.

There are many talented art students that are given the opportunity to learn and practice their skills in a wide range of courses.

Some of the most popular courses taught at the high school are pottery, jewelry, and weaving.

Students that show a real flair for fine arts work are recommended by various art teachers to participate in Arts V, which is the highest level of art students can attain at Horton Watkins.

So again, remember that famous piece of art you are admiring a few years from now may be done by a student who began his training at Horton Watkins High.

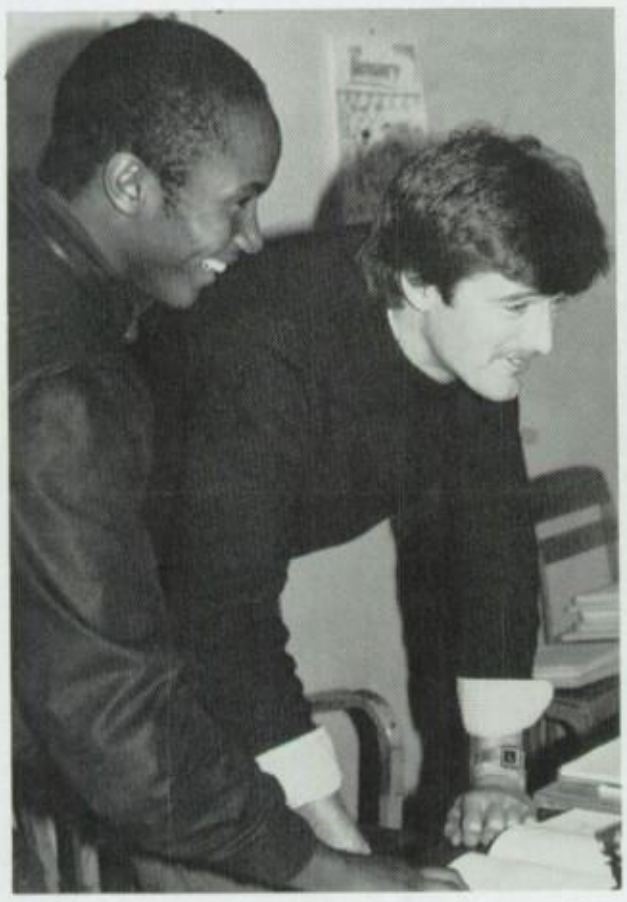
Variety In Home-Ec., Industrial Arts

The Home Economics department offers a variety of courses including Bachelor Cooking, Gourmet Foods, and Sewing Crafts. This department provides students with an opportunity to learn skills that will help them in their future lives such as Sewing and Housing and Design.

Industrial Arts provides a chance for the students to discover talents in Wood Working, Metals, Drawing, Power Mechanics, Blueprint Reading and Auto Maintenance. This department is designed to provide a wide range of classes to enable students to understand these specific skills.

Mr. McCoy, Industrial Arts teacher, finds good companionship in three of his hard-working students: Darnell Madison, Mark Gross, and Eddie Johnson.



Chris Sailor and Mr. Ford find architecture amusing.

Mrs. Ogier displays a freshly baked tray of cookies for the photographer.

Publications, Drama Offer Creativity

The Publications Department gives students the opportunity to express their talents in ways not always seen in a regular English class. The department offers courses in editing, news reporting, and journalism writing. Selected students are also given the opportunity to produce the yearbook and the newspaper. Courses are also offered in Beginning and Advanced Photogrpahy.

The Drama Department offers courses in acting, directing, and make-up. The students learn and experience skills used in producing plays and productions through courses and school plays.

Business World Interests Students

The Consumer Education department and COE both help students learn about our business world. In Consumer Education, courses range from Business Law to Short Hand. Depending on the course, students learn about insurance, note taking, accounting, typing, and the stock market. Such courses give students an opportunity to learn about their business world around them.

In COE students take the course as well as regular classes and then work at a job in the community for approximately half the school day. The student must have a job in order to stay in the COE program.

Special Staffs Lend Aid

The Special Services and Special Education staffs give help to those students needing it. The students are given the opportunity to learn to study as well as to help understand and complete homework assignments. These teachers help students in almost every academic area, and try to help the students stay caught up in their classes. The teachers also aid students in preparing for tests, and sometimes give the exams to the students in place of the regular classroom teacher. In general, students are helped in many ways by these two departments.

Nurses And Aids Work Hard To Provide Their Services

Horton Watkins High School personnel such as nurses, librarian aids, and student lounge aids provide many needed services for the students, faculty, and the school as a whole.

The nurses' speciality is helping heal students so they can return to their classes as quickly as possible. The nurses are always ready and waiting to take a student's temperature or try to cure any ailment he may have. They also provide everything from a bandaid to a wheelchair. The librarian aids help students and faculty use the library services to the best advantage. They help in everything from usage of audio-visual materials to reproducing articles needed. The aids also assist the librarians with everyday tasks. The student lounge aids watch over activities in the lounge and help in any way they can to assist students with problems the students have.

Mrs. Ethel Newman, student lounge aid, controls Steve Johnston (front), Samantha Gittelman, Andy Solomon, Ellen Ryan, Drew Green and Danny Platner.

Mrs. Helen Christophersen, library clerk; Mrs. Joan Campbell, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Peterson, library clerk; and Mrs. Judy Lane, clerk; all stand ready to lend their aid.

Nurses Mrs. Carolyn Tharp and Mrs. Dee Cavanaugh check the list of students who have come down sick today with a strange illness called schoolidis.

Secretaries, Librarians Keep School Functioning

The secretaries perform many valuable services for students and faculty. The front office clerks keep records, answer questions, help visitors, and handle all mailings such as report cards, schedules, and progress reports. The principals' secretaries handle the logistics to help run each individual grade and are available to aid students and faculty with any problem. The secretaries in the counseling offices are also a great help to students who need their services. The librarians are a great help to students and faculty. This year there are new computers available both in the library and in the new computer center which is manned by former librarian Mrs. Harriet Arkin.

Cooks, Custodians, Guards Serve Horton Watkins High

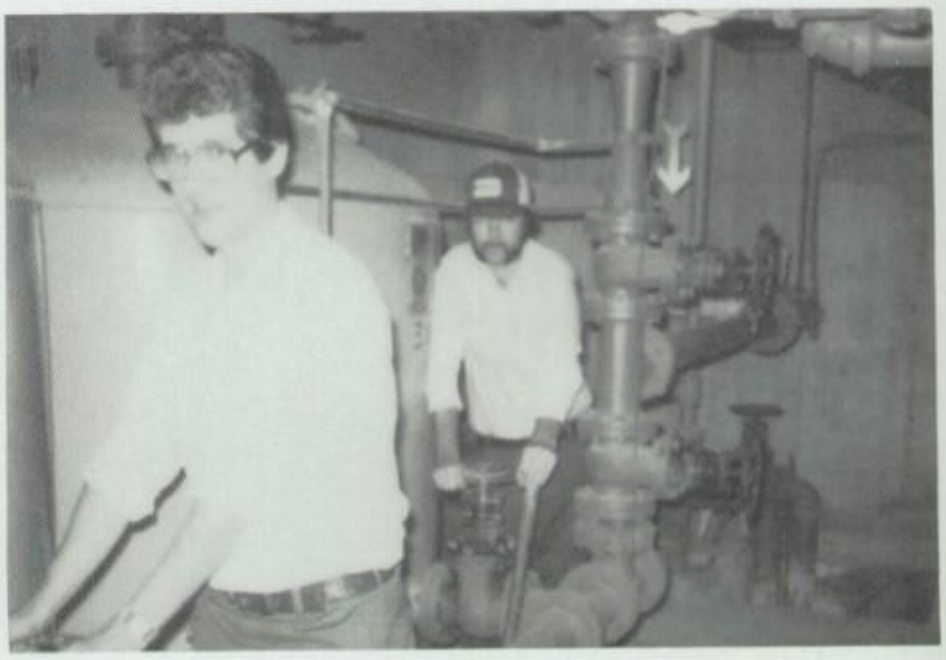
The cooks, custodians, and guards at Horton Watkins High School provide a variety of services greatly appreciated by everyone connected with the school. The cooks' job is quite large. In addition to cooking for Horton Watkins' hungry students and staff, the cooks also prepare all the lunches for the entire school district, because the kitchen at the high school is the main kitchen in the school district.

The custodians and matrons perform many necessary services needed at the high school in order for the building to function properly. The day crew handles some of the cleaning around the school and handles routine matters such as changing light bulbs, fixing needed repairs, etc. The day crew is also mainly responsible for set-ups for dances, class meetings and other school events. Then comes the night crew that cleans every room in the school building, preparing for the next day.

The parking lot guards provide the school with the enforcement of policies regarding the lot. They also provide students and faculty the protection of their automobiles.

Mr. Jim Lesnick, high school custodian, rearranges the tables and chairs in the cafeteria.

The parking lot guards stand ready to check passes and prevent any automobile vandalism.



Third shift custodians Ted Short and Rick Gulin check the valves in the boiler room.

Do You Remember . .

You certainly ought to remember the Horton Watkins High School graduation in June of 1984. The four years we anticipated that humid June evening when we would receive our Diplomas of Graduation certifying a four year completion of high school curriculum. Remember the first day of our Freshman year when Scott Yust was the "stud" of all "studs" and Anneta DeMarco was the ideal girl to the Freshmen boys. Remember the "Senior" parties we would attend as Freshmen; our parents would drop us off at 9:30 and pick us up at 11:00. Oh, those "pep" rallies with Wags. What a great guy! The one year we all will remember was our sixteenth year. Remember how we thought it would never come? Just try to remember how great it felt to cruise down Clayton Road "legally" and grab a soda at El and Lee, barely making our 8:30 class. We certainly can't forget Archie, the man with the most convenient case of amnesia ever. As our Junior year began, and we were just getting into the

'Out To Lunch'

Once again the seniors experienced the freedom and follies of Senior out to lunch. Even though the rules to senior out to lunch were strongly emphasized, and some faculty members resented getting students out of class, seniors found many ways to make their own rules. An anonomous senior said, "I snuck off the lot in someone's trunk the first day of senior out to lunch. It was raining and their car kept stalling. It felt like I was in there forever. I thought I would soon stop breathing. Finally, I got off the lot, but I recommend another method."

Seniors used their imagination many different ways during their lunch hour. The majority of students cruised home and made lunch and "beverages," considered awesome compared to the school food. Other eating places ranged from Lions Choice, Pasta House, all the way to Naugles and for picnickers, of course, Tilis Park. Some students visited other schools such as Chaminade and Villa.

As in previous years, Junior class students assisted in receiving senior out to lunch cards.

Senior class President, Andrea Slatopolsky said, "I think seniors needed the break that senior out to lunch gives us. If seniors in the future come back to class on time and do not abuse the rules, the privilege will continue." But Stacy Light replied, "We need more time to get to the restaurant and order."

Dr. Banister, Senior class Principal, also agrees with Andrea. He said, "Senior out to lunch is a privilege that senior students have requested over the past years. I hope the future seniors eligible to go out to lunch, do not abuse this privilege so it will be available to seniors in the future."

What Do You Want To Be When You Grow Up?

"I want to be a fireman," says Johnny.
"I want to be a policeman," says Mikey.
"I want to be a nurse," says Mary.

Responses like these are what one probably hears when asking a kindergartener what he wants to be when he grows up. Through the years, however, most people change their minds dozens of times before they decide upon a career. When asking seniors what they want to be when they grow up, the responses were mixed. Andrea Johnson said, "I want to be a child psychologist because of an innate desire to help young people." While Toyna Lewis said, "I want to work behind the scenes of the T.V. camera, creating and directing because I've always been interested in communicating with the public indirectly." On the other hand, Claire Lubin said, "I don't know what I want to do with my future, but I believe it is essential to have well-rounded abilities and a well-rounded, thorough education. "When asking another senior what he wants to be when he grows up, he simply replied, "That's a good question!"

Juniors Look Into Their Futures

As junior year progresses, thoughts of graduation and even college come to mind for many students. Junior year is an extremely important year academically. Not only is there the regular school curriculum to contend with, but also the P.S.A.T/N.M.S.Q.T and S.A.T as well. The majority of the junior class takes the P.S.A.T/N.M.S.Q.T in October. The P.S.A.T/N.M.S.Q.T is a preliminary scholastic aptitude test and national merit scholarship qualifying test.

Most juniors also take their Scholastic Aptitude Test sometime during their junior year. For many students, taking the S.A.T. creates a great deal of pressure. Many students take preparatory S.A.T courses, both in and out of school. Such courses include verbal prep and S.A.T math. These classes familiarize the student with the type of questioning that occurs on the S.A.T. The verbal prep courses include vocabulary drilling to help the students prepare for the verbal section of the S.A.T. The S.A.T math course reviews math concepts such as geometry and teaches new math concepts that may occur on the S.A.T as well.

Several students in the junior class have already begun college preparations. Jamey Greenberg has begun to look into schools for their six- year medical programs, accepting students directly following their high school graduation. "Early preparation is necessary to get into a good, sound program," said Jamey. According to Jamey their are only a few selected schools in the country with programs of this type. Marian Currinder has also begun looking into her college education. "I am interested in pursuing a career in graphic design and advertising. I have started looking into schools offering good art programs," said Marian.

For many, junior year represents a year of looking ahead and preparing for the years after high school.

LHS Students Travel To France

This past February, several Ladue students participated in a three week excursion to France. The group, led by Mrs. Chris Sharp left St. Louis on February 8 and returned on February 29. The students spent the first three days in Paris. The group visited sights such as The Louvre, The Eiffel Tower, The Tuileries Gardens, and The Cathedral of Notre Dame.

Following their stay in Paris, the group went on to Beizer, a small town in the south of France. In Beizer each student was assigned to a family that he/she had been matched up with. During their homestay the students attended the local school with their hosts. They also toured several points of interest in Beizer, and in neighboring communities. The students all seemed to have had a wonderful time. "It was a fantastic experience. I had so much fun and learned a great deal as well," commented Sue Covert.

The excursion also gave the students the chance to use their conversational French skills that they have acquired through a minimum of three years of French. "I was so surprised to find how different it was to actually rely totally on my French. It was extremely difficult at first, but it got easier as time progressed. I think in all, the trip really strengthend my French skills," said Amy Landsbaum.

Sophomores Get A Choice

Upon entering the sophomore year, one is able to choose his or her own classes for the first time. Prior to that time, a student had to take a certain number of required classes and he had very little choice, Even though the classes one chose had to be a certain type, the range of classes offered for each subject was so great that it lead to a variety of classes within one's schedule. The arranging of one's own schedule helps to prepare one for college and after college by providing the sophomore with decisions to be made. It also aids the sophomore in school by making the days a little more enjoyable since he or she picked his or her own classes and teachers.

Another aid to the sophomore for his schedule is the change day before school begins. Even though a change day is offered to all classes, one usually does not take advantage of it until his sophomore year. By this time he is more familiar with the school's system and he feels more comfortable rearranging his schedule to get the classes he wants.

Many sophomores commented on how they felt about being able to choose their own classes for the first time. Gregg Wolin said, "It gives you a feeling of freedom to do what you want to do." On the same lines, Cathy Summers said, "Changing classes is good because it gives me a chance for a fresh start with classes and teachers I want." Pointing a little bit to the negative side, Lynda Deusinger commented, "I really enjoy being able to change my classes and start over on a different subject. It renews my interest in school and takes away some of the monotony of going to the same classes everyday. However, the system could use some improvement." Some students, however, felt that being able to choose classes is just one of the first steps to growing up. "I like the independence of it, to make decisions, and just having the freedom of what I can take. I like being able to choose classes that I'm interested in," said Mike Banashek. While Scott Stern said, "The variety of classes a student can take opens his field of interests and makes a student realize the wide choices of career opportunities in later life."

When We Were Sophomores

Sophomores show their spirit all through the halls of Ladue High. When people recall high school days, 10th grade may be the best. Happy times and special friends fill the life of a sophomore; often they are found in the library or student lounge talking together. The sophomore is no longer the new kid on the block, but he is not the old timer either as he has not been around as long as the upper classmen. All in all, the life of each sophomore can be a great one that he probably will never forget his whole life.

Sophomores Start Driving

When the roads seem filled with young, inexperienced drivers, and everyone begins complaining about the parking lot being too full, it can only mean one thing: Sophomores are starting to drive. By February, about one half of the sophomore class had their driver's licenses, and tips about obtaining licenses traveled throughout the halls.

After asking a number of sophomores about their driver's license, it was evident that no matter what they said, their words pointed towards the fact that a driver's license is great.

Lynda Deusinger had an early birthday and she said, "Having my driver's license is terrific. I have so much more freedom now that I can go wherever I want whenever I want." Another person with an early birthday was Brian Hershman, and he said, "I was real nervous about taking my driving test because I heard all those stories about mean instructors and I was worried about failing, but it turned out easier than I thought. The instructors aren't as bad as they make them out to be."

Sophomores who had their birthdays a little later all felt generally the same about getting their license; they could not wait to stop depending upon others for rides. Leslie Christian said, "I can't wait because I will go everywhere I can think of, and do all the things I want." "I can't wait to get my driver's license so I don't have to 'mooch' rides from other people!" said Jill Seigfried.

A number of sophomores also have late birthdays so they have to wait to drive legally. Jill Rosen commented, "In one way it's good having a late birthday because I don't have to chauffer my friends around; instead they chauffer me. However, I can't really go anywhere by myself."

Horton Watkins Class Of '86

Fun and games, some studying too, during high school in year number two.
Driving begins, so everyone watch out,
because new drivers don't know the route.
A choice in classes for the first time, cooking, computers, or even mime.
Clubs and sports, so much to do.
when you're a sophomore at Ladue.
People surround you from three different grades,
all with different interests and hopes for different trades.
Not the youngest, but still quite young,
at least from the seniors you don't get stung.
When it comes right down to it, there's one thing to say about the sophomores of today,
that a sophomore's life really kicks,
especially for the class of '86.

Dear Diary,

Today was my first day of high school. It was really neat! I even talked to an upperclassman, can you believe it?! I met so many new people! I was trying to find Rm. 224 and ended up walking around the school about 15 times. It was totally exhausting! I tried to go into the student lounge during lunch, but I saw a guy in my class being forced to bark and decided I better not go. My teachers were alright, they didn't really say a whole lot for the first day, besides, "Do Your Homework!" You know what? The cafeteria food is just like the junior high's food, thrilling. However, they did have a couple new things. Well, it isn't so bad being a freshman (At least the first day). I hope it stays this way. Well, gotta go, talk to ya tomorrow!

Will This Class End?

This question goes through the minds of several students near the end of the class. The last few minutes are probably the longest minutes in a student's life.

It's sixth hour, just the beginning, and Johnny's already waiting for the bell. Class starts and his teacher comes around the room to check the student's homework assignment, but because he was out late last night, no homework. He quickly grabs his friend's and copies it before he gets caught. This method works. Luckily the assignment was short.

It's 2:15, 45 minutes left in class. "Will I ever get out of here?" Johnny thinks. "Now class," says his teacher, "we will go over the homework, start a new chapter, and if there's time we'll take a quiz." "Great, now all we have to do is ask as many questions as we can about the homework and read the answers slowly," says one of Johnny's classmates. "Act like you don't understand anything and make our teacher explain everything," says another; "We'll never get to the quiz!"

Well, 2:45 rolls around and somehow Johnny's teacher catches on. "Okay, time for the quiz!" "There's not enough time!" says Johnny. "Fifteen minutes is plenty of time." "Wonderful," sigh the students; "It's incredible how much you can get done in an hour."

Finally 3:00, the announcements have ended, but where's the bell? It seems like hours! Sixth hour classes seem to last forever!

Suzie Bryant and Michele Smith forgot to take their No-Doz this morning.

You Know You're A Freshman When

- you walk through the student lounge and someone makes you sing the National Anthem.
- you walk around the school several times and still can't find your class.
- you walk outside to the smoking lounge and a cup of water falls on your head.
- you're thrown into the pool.
- upperclassmen walk in front of you in the lunchline.
- you have no free hours.
- everyone reminds you that you're a freshman.
- you have to learn how to swim in P.E. whether you know how to or not.
- you have to take the bus to school and home again.
- you have to wait to get your schedule changed after all of the other classes and then the classes you wanted are closed.

Rams End Season 5-5

In his second year as head coach of the football Rams, Coach Jerry Maher set out to improve last years 5-4 record and try to capture the Suburban South Crown. The Rams had a very disappointing season and ended the season with three consecutive losses, finishing with an even record of 5-5. Injuries and an extremely tough schedule hampered the team's chances at a better season record. The schedule included weekly top ten power St. Louis University High, Sikeston, University City, and undefeated Webster Groves. Injuries were also numerous as key starters like Mike Thomas, Gary Boulding, and Jay Fording missed playing time. The team was led by senior captains Mike Thomas, Jay Karasich, Andy Solomon, and Todd Hart who again played superbly on offense and defense. Inconsistencies to score points at needed times and sometime poor defense led to the Rams' lack of success. Two of the Rams' better played games were against Oakville and Parkway South: against the Oakville Tigers the Rams ruined their homecoming as they won 46-14 with Todd Hart and Jay Fording turning in sparkling defensive performances. Against Parkway South the Rams blasted the Patriots in front of a capacity homecoming crowed of their own, 34-10. In that game Chris Sailor sparkled as he amassed 119 yards rushing and a 90 yard opening kickoff return for a touchdown. The Rams sparked on offense by leading rusher Chris Sailor, split-end Todd Hart, and guard Jay Karasick. On defense the stalwarts were defensive end Andy Solomon, linebacker Dareon Burden, defensive tackle Mike Gerard, linebacker Jay Fording, and defensive back Todd Hart. With a strong sophomore team and many juniors returning, Coach Maher looks for great things next season.

The sophomore Rams finished the season with a record of 4 wins 3 losses and 1 tie. Due to injuries the Ladue Rams were unable to reach a perfect season. This year the Rams were led by their leading rusher Verner Meeks, who in times pulled the Rams offense together. The line-backers were Donny Williams, Leon Fisher; and the entire front line held up the defense. Coach Phil Bruce comments on his three losses: "Webster was just a great team, but our boys still gave 110%. And U. City's quarterback was the whole team and we could not contain him." Coach Bruce doesn't think that they lost against Eureka because Eureka only moved a total of 2 ½ yards on their own. Besides Coach Bruce, the other sophomore team coaches were Mr. Steve Ford and Mr. Mick Ponath.

The Freshmen Rams football team were led by Coach Ron Zetcher and assistants Bob Polkinghorne and Bob Norris. The 1983 Baby Rams had a very exciting season finished with an undefeated 6-0 record. The team, led on offense by quarterback Vaughn Mims and running back Paul Zaffaroni, had outstanding defense also allowing only 14 points during the season, and shutting out four teams along the way. The difference in point totals was overwhelming in favor of the Ladue Rams as they outscored their opponents 98-14 during the season. With such as find showing of the Freshmen squad, the varsity prospects look good for the next few years.

Eudals Splash To 10-7

The 1983-84 Varsity Water Polo team had a mediocre season finishing 10-7. Captains for the squad this season were Fred Scherrer and Beau Michelson. The team played well most of the season, but Coach Dan Casey attributed the losses partially to key injuries. These injuries hampered the team's chances of having a better season and posting a different record. Ladue's players did not go without recognition, however, as Scherrer was named to the First Team All-State team, and Michelson and Rusty Shaw were also selected to the All-State team. Horton Watkins High School had more members on the All-State team than any other school with the exceptions of the top two teams in the state — Parkway West and University City.

Rams Struggle For .500 Season

The 1983-84 version of the soccer Rams was led by senior co-captains Joe Hecht and Chris Naunheim along with Coach Ralph Englemeyer in his fifth year at the helm.

The Rams were in a rebuilding year due to losses of graduating seniors. The entire defense had to be revamped and other changes were made along the way. The soccer team had its up and downs as they were beaten by close scores in many games. The team ended its grueling season with a record of 8 wins, 8 losses, and 1 tie. The most heartbreaking loss came in the October loss to perennially tough Oakville 1-0. The Rams were beaten with only seconds left in overtime.

In the two games against Maplewood, the Rams soundly won by lopsided scores. In another important game, the Rams beat Parkway South in double overtime.

During the season the Rams were lead by third year starter junior Stuart Cytron, fullbacks Hecht and Naunheim, leading scorer Patrick McDonough, and freshman goalie Steve Stein. It was Stein who held the team in many of the games with outstanding netmanship. Had Stein not sat out a good portion of the season with an injury, the Rams probably would have won many more games. Besides Stein, the soccer Rams had two other underclassmen on the team — starting fullback sophomore David Meyer and freshman reserve Robert Minkler.

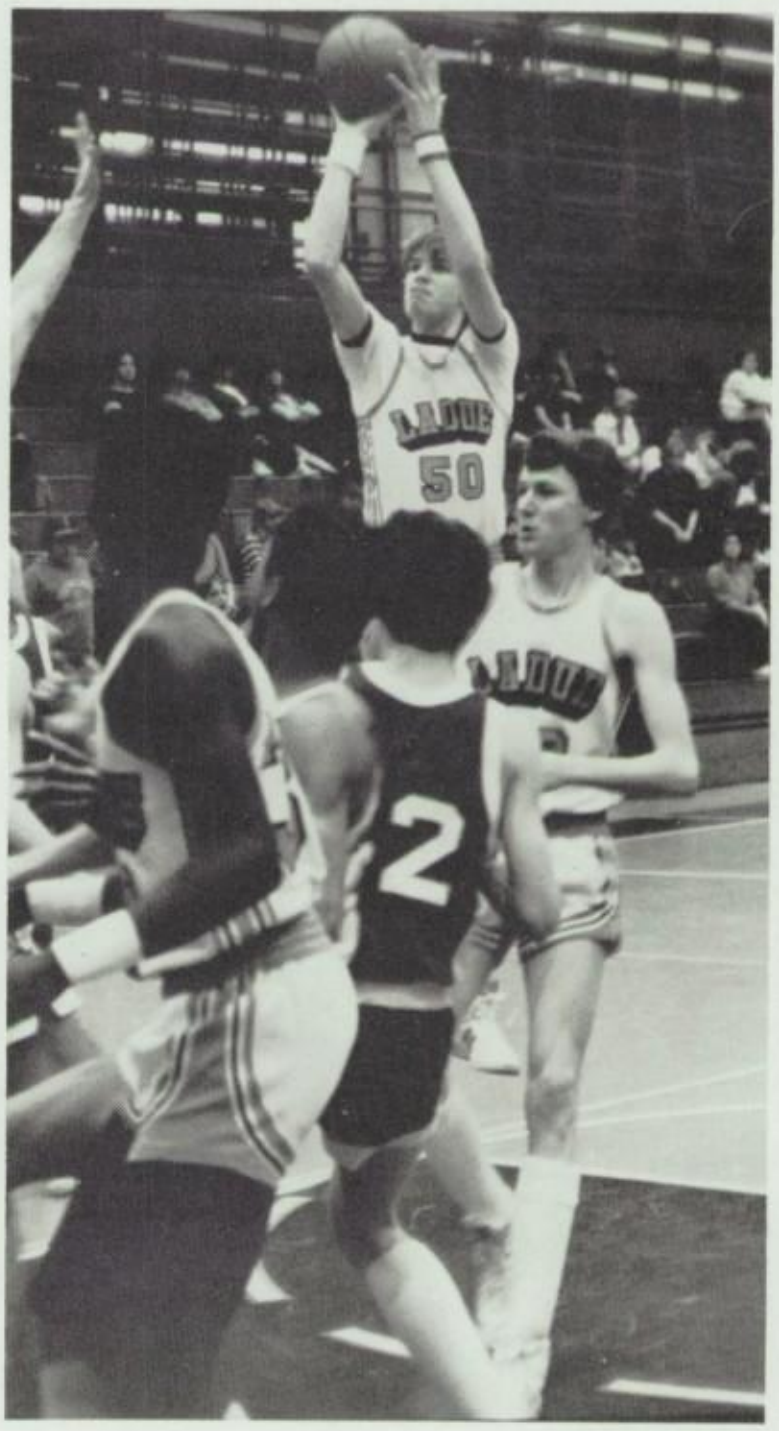
Rams Finish 11-16

The varsity basketball Rams started the season slowly and unimpressively but finished with a bang ending with a 11-16 record playing very fine ball in the second half of the year. Though the Rams failed to win the conference championship, Coach Mike Ramming was pleased with the way his club improved more during the year than any other team he has ever coached. He further complimented the team's ability to rebound which kept the Rams in many games.

In rebounding the team was led by sophomore Martin Howell and junior Jim Collins. They also led the team in scoring along with steady player Vincent "Silk" Martin. Other key players were point guard Norman "Butch" Graham and surprise forward Patrick Bolin.

One of the high points of the season came when Howell scored a bucket with 10 seconds left against Parkway to give the Rams an impressive upset in the first round of districts.

Next season looks good for Ramming's Rams with over 50 percent of this year's squad being non-seniors and available to up this season's record to who knows where.



Center Martin Howell stands above the rest when it comes to basketball.

Sophs. End 18-3

The sophomore basketball Rams concluded a very exciting season beating Webster Groves in the final game for an undefeated conference record. Coach Robert Lange had a very talented team led by David Meyer who was the team's top rebounder and scorer, and point guard Warren Quinn.

The sophomore squad finished with a 11-0 conference record and 18-3 overall. The team's greatest strength was their defense holding the opposition to scores in the thirties in most games. Freshmen Eddie Johnson, Gene Wooden, and Bobby Wolf led depth and talent to an already talented team.

Some of the players moving up to the varsity next year look promising for the varsity Rams.

Swimmers Finish At 8-6

The boys swimming team finished slightly above .500 percent this year, finishing with an 8-6 record. Coach Dan Casey said the team gave 100 percent all the time and worked very hard in practice.

Coach Casey stated that every meet the Eudals competed in this year was a tough one and in many meets the winning team was not decided until down to the wire.

Two of the strong swimmers on this year's squad were seniors Fred Scherrer and Beau Michelson. They certainly will be missed said Coach Casey. However, among other returnees will be junior Ralph Scherrer and freshman Tom Ashworth, so things look bright for the Eudals next season.

Varsity Wrestling Rams Have Successful Season

The 1983-84 Varsity wrestling Rams concluded a very successful campaign under Coach Jerry Maher. In his first year at the helm, Coach Maher said there was great participation and a large turnout of underclassmen wanting to wrestle.

The team was lead by tri-captains Andy Solomon, Greg Leong, and Gary Boulding, all seniors. Coach Maher credited the captains with giving a great deal of support and character to the team. He also appreciated the help of assistant Coaches Bob Norris and Gale O'Brien in helping to make this a very successful season for the grapplers. With such a strong contigent of underclassmen on the squad, Coach Maher looks to the future for great things to come.

Harriers Charge Ahead

The boys cross country team faced a major rebuilding year this season with the loss of such state contending runners as Andy Becker, Tom Butler, Mike Currinder, Curtis Kopf, and David Rendelman of last year's squad due to graduation. However, the Harriers still had high hopes of running away with the Suburban South Conference title.

Running Cross Country is often a lonely sport because it does not attract the crowds such as football or basketball. Nevertheless, this sport does have its rewards for the runner who has pushed himself almost to the point of exhaustion and knows he has done his best in this grueling sport.

Practice for cross country starts in the summer, usually with two practice sessions a day. Home meets are held at the Junior High School.

Varsity Lacks Depth

This year's Varsity Field Hockey team, led by Coach Georgia Mircheff, ended their season with a 4-7 overall record and a 3-5 league record. Coach Mircheff commented, "The girls worked hard and exhibited lots of enthusiasm throughout the season." However, due to illness of a few players and the reassigning of players to different positions the team lost some games but by narrow margins.

Five games into the season the girls played Brentwood and Kirkwood with both being heartbreaking losses in tie breakers. One of the highlights of the season was the Rams victory over University City, with co-captain Linda Kahle scoring the goal. Other outstanding players for Horton Watkins were co-captain Jessica Langsam, Lisa Tift, Kim Allison, and Dorothy Shull.

"Although we'll be losing three seniors, with the outstanding juniors Kim Allison, Lisa Tift, Carrie Picraux, and Cathy Spong, we should have a successful next season," said Coach Mircheff.

J-V Field Hockey Team Ends With 1-6-1 Record

The Junior Varsity Field Hockey team, led by Coach Grace Konering, ended their season with a 1-6-1 record. The team was young and inexperienced; however, the players did show improvement as the season wore on. Most of the squad was composed of freshmen so improvement is bound to show with more games under their belt.

Abby Krain and Sema Erenmemis showed particular improvement, and outstanding skill was displayed by co-captain Nasreen Syed, Whitney Rehr, and Tina Ross.

Varsity Volleyball Team Continues Winning Streak

The Horton Watkins High School varsity volleyball team, led by Coach Connie Strobach, ended the season with a record of 18 wins and only 5 losses. Volleyball at Ladue has always been a sport with much pride, and it's no wonder with the fine records the teams have left behind. Even with the graduation of 3 of the strongest players off last year's squad, the record this year shows the 1984 version did quite well. It seemed as though the team just picked up the pieces and began again where the 1983 team left off. This year the girls placed second in league and had an overall score in matches of 8-5.

Four seniors — Peta Burchell, Paula Douglass, Nancy Neisler, and Cheryl Wood — were on this year's team, and all displayed excellent skills and sportsmanship, according to Caoch Strobach. "Everyone played as a unit; we had to rely on each other and help each other," said Nancy Neisler of the entire team. Coach Strobach was pleased with the girls' performances and looks forward to next season.

J-V Volleyball Team Ends With 5-7 Record

The junior varsity volleyball team, lead by Coach Barbara Bonhoff and co-captains Chris Bollenger and Lynda Deusinger, did not quite have the season the varsity team did. The J-V squad ended their season with a 5-7 record, but overall the season was not that unsatisfactory. The girls did work hard and made much improvement during the year, but a lack of experience was the biggest drawback.

Along with Bollinger and Deusinger, Caroline Sarian and Annie Avazian also showed great skill in their performances. "Although the record isn't a true representation of the girls' ability, due to lack of experience, we lost some matches we should have won," said Coach Bonhoff. "I am proud of the girls; they worked very hard and it paid off," she concluded. Coach Bonhoff said that she is looking forward to next fall and Horton Watkins J-V volleyball once again.

Girls Varsity Tennis Has Successful Season

The 1983 Girls Varsity Tennis Team successfully ended their season with 11-3 record. The girls were led to victory by Coaches Ed Velten and Joan Marks. As the season progressed, the girls swung on to capture the Suburban South Tournament and the Suburban South League Titles. In the District Tournament the team consisted of Liz Little and Toni Bohannon playing singles and Gabi Bethke and Ann Donohue as one doubles team and Kim Forti and Nan Defabio as the other. Both Defabio and Forti advanced to the State Tournament in Columbia, making it to the Semi-finals.

Girls Softball Team Ends With 4-11 Record

The Softball team, coached by Jerry Watson and John Phelan, ended the season with a 4-11 record. Coach Watson said, "Overall I am a bit disappointed with the season. However, we do have a young team and next year's prospects look promising." This year's strongest players were Kathy Kilo, Amy Behle and Jennifer Jackson who were second team all District player's. Kilo who was returning for her second year said, "We had many close games and our record does not reflect our team's true ability." Coach Watson find's softball to be an exciting sport; he has coached, played and umpired it for many years and looks forward to next season with six of the nine starting players returning.

Cross Country Team Makes Improvements

The Girl's Cross Country team led by Coach Judy Norris and Co-Captain's Kathy Mora and Gayle Leone had a season of much improvement. We all worked together," said junior Jane Schiele. The girls always seemed to have a good attitude about them, a very competitive one. This being Mora's fourth year running for Ladue, she commented, "I love it! there is so much team spirit and togetherness it's hard not to have fun." However, despite the fact that the girls have a good time, they put in many hours of hard work. The team placed fourth in both Metro Conference and Districts. The team worked hard and quite a dissapointment took place when they missed going to sectionals by a narrow margin of six points. Even though the team didn't go, individuals did quality, Gayle Leone, Marin Millar, Jane Schile and Christie Hind all qualified. During the season individual medals were won by Gayle Leone who placed 17 out of 59 in The Webster Invitational. Marin Millar placed 10 out of 36 in Districts and 9 out of 59 in The Webster Invitational. Jane Scheile placed 35 out of 91 in the Ladue Invitational and 15 out of 59 in the Webster Invitational. Coach Coach Norris was pleased with the girl's performance and looks forward to the 1984 Cross Country Season.

Bad Bounces Plague Girls Varsity B-Ball

The girls varsity basketball team ended the season with a disapointing record of 2-15. Coaches for the team were Mr. Phil Bruce and Mr. Steve Ford. "The team was young," said Coach Bruce. "We lacked experience and suffered from the loss of last year's graduating seniors."

However, there were several individual achievements made. For example, Cheryl Wood had an outstanding season, ranking in the top 10 in the state for rebounding. "She worked hard and it paid off," said Coach Bruce. The team had four junior starters in Buffy Bloecher, Jennifer Jackson, Susan Pierce, and Ann Donahue.

Kathy Kilo, a senior on the team, commented, "We would have had a better season if we were given more fan support and pushed harder." She also said that although this season's record was somewhat of a disappointment, she predicted that next year's team would do well with the return of the four starting juniors this year plus other girls on the team, that the 1984-85 season could be quite productive.

J-V Basketball Team Ends Medicore Season

The Junior Varsity basketball team had a mediocre season ending with a record of 6 wins and 7 losses. According to varsity player Kathy Kilo, the J-V team did possess a lot of talent and should do well in the future. Coach Phil Bruce added, "One of our better players was Marnice Batchman; she started for Junior Varsity but played on the varsity and on the freshman team as well."

Other players who played very well, according to the coaches, were Louise Losos, Andrea Tyus, and Melissa Wynn, and show very good promise for future years. Coach Bruce said he looks forward to next year and hopes to see many of the J-V girls returning to play on the varsity team in the next year or two.

Freshmen Basketball Ends With 5-3 Record

The freshmen girls basketball team ended their season with a 5-3 record. "The girls worked hard," said Coach Ron Zetcher, "and although their record was not quite as good as last year's freshmen team, it certainly was close."

Coach Zetcher said that this group of girls has a lot of potential and with more experience the girls should make a fine addition to the varsity team in a year of two.

Dana Williams, Candy Catlin, and Patrice Echols all played well; and Marnice Batchman started for the freshmen team and played on the junior varsity and varsity teams as well.

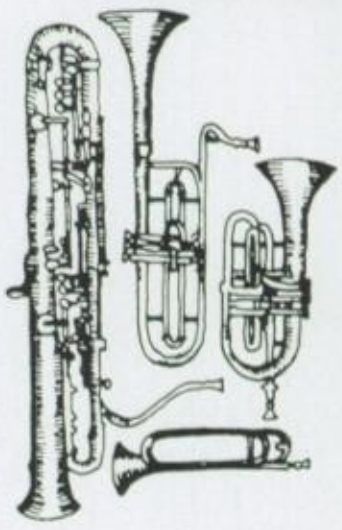
Marching Rams Continue Spirit

"Who are we?" "We are the Marching Rams!" This chant is heard when the band members are all together and ready to perform. The Marching Rams is one of Ladue's musical groups. The band performed at varsity home football and basketball games, pep assemblies, and some of their own concerts. This year the Marching Rams also performed at the Riverfront, the junior high school, and at Litzinger School. The band was directed by Mr. Tom Poshak who received help from senior Drum Major Holly Hertel. Together they led the band which consisted of ten flutes, nine clarinets, 14 saxaphones, one French horn, six trumpets, three trombones, one baritone, one tuba, and a seven member percussion section.



Julie Fischer, Band Director Mr. Tom Poshak, Holly Hertel, and Scott Daniels proudly display the "Marching Rams" banner that the band carried at all the performances.

Pom Pon, Baton Girls Show Skills

The Laduettes, Majorettes, and J-V pom pons proved to be very talented this year during their performances at varsity football and basketball games. The squads also performed at pep assemblies, the Riverfront, and Creve Coeur Days. Each squad had two captains. Amy Drummond and Tracy Morgan led the Laduettes; Arlene Boxerman and Shaunna Swiener led the Majorettes; and Judy Beck and Barb Steinberg headed the J-V pom pons.

The girls worked diligently first hour marching with the band, practicing dance steps, and making up routines. The routines were then set to top 40 hits. They entertained the crowds with the dancing and familiar songs, which helped to boost moral support throughout the stands. Mrs. Mary Giles coordinated activities for the Laduettes and Mrs. Pat Sanders did the same for th Junior Varsity pom pons.

Cheerleaders Spread Spirit

The varsity, sophomore, and freshman cheerleaders spread spirit and enthusiasm throughout the school. They performed at sports events and pep assemblies, and before certain games they went a little extra by decorating the players' lockers and leaving "goody-bags" filled with treats for them.

Some changes occurred this year with the cheerleading squads. First of all, the squads remained the same for the entire year instead of having fall cheerleaders and then different girls for winter cheerleaders. Also, both the sophomore and varsity squads increased by four or five members from past squads.

Aside from these changes, the cheerleaders still have a certain image to uphold, but keeping this image involved a lot of time and hard work. Often the girls were seen practicing in the student lounge and other places after school trying to perfect their cheers and routines. Evidence of their practice could be seen, however, when the squads performed at the various events. Most of the cheerleaders agreed that the efforts they put into their responsibilities paid off for them, especially when they could get the crowd to join in the cheers.

Homecoming Activities Abound

One of the biggest events in the school year was Homecoming weekend. Kicking off the weekend was a pep assembly where the fall sports teams were introduced, and entertainment was provided by the cheerleaders, pom pons, majorettes, and the band. The next night was a pep rally with the football teams, cheerleaders, and students, followed by the annual bonfire. Bright and early the next morning (Saturday), clubs and classes were putting the finishing touches on the floats and cars. The judging took place at 10 a.m. and then came the parade around parts of Ladue and Olivette.

Winners in the judging were French Club in club/float division; Scholarship Fund in club/car division; and Senior Class in the class/float division.

That Saturday afternoon the homecoming football game between the Rams and the Parkway South Patriots took place with Ladue being the victor 34-10. Then to top off the weekend came the Homecoming Dance that night in the newly remodeled school cafeteria. The Homecoming maids were Freshmen Barb Christ and Whitney Peters; Sophomores Jodi Allen and Judy Beck; Juniors Annie Ayvazian and Kathy Sewing; and Senior Queen Cathy Christ.

Theater Abounds At Ladue

The Drama Club is for students who are interested in the theater both on and off stage. Students are given the opportunity to participate in singing, dancing, acting, stage lighting, makeup, and set design and construction. Club members are involved with the fall play, spring musical, and the senior directed one-acts. Thespians is for the students who are particulary interested in theater. Students earn points for their participation and after earning 10 points, go through Thespian initiation to join.

Foreign Language Clubs Bring Students Together

One of the main purposes of the Foreign Language Clubs is to bring students together to learn and discuss foreign cultures. These clubs give those involved a chance to get a bit of the culture without leaving the United States. The clubs are involved with different projects as fund-raising so they are able to enjoy brunches at international restaurants. Other pasttimes of these clubs are attending movies, lectures, and concerts. This year all clubs participated in hosting the international dinner, entering floats in the homecoming parade, and setting up booths at the scholarship fund carnival.

Faculty sponsors for the Foreign Language Clubs are Mr. Rami Pinsberg, Hebrew; Mrs. Gisela McKenna, German; Mrs. Carla Cousley and Mrs. Chris Sharp, Spanish.

Dinner Rated A Big Success

The International Dinner was held this school year on January 26, in the newly refurbished school cafeteria. Two seatings were held — one at 5:30 and the other at 7:15. A group of students from all the foreign language classes signed up to be waiters and waitresses. In addition, some students served as hosts and hostesses.

For several days prior to the dinner, announcements and posters were in evidence announcing the annual affair. Tickets could be purchased from foreign language students and teachers.

The Tuesday before the dinner, several students were chosen to prepare the food. Then came the night of the dinner which started off with three appetizers and some croissants and then proceeded to the main course. Lastly came the desserts from which the guests could choose.

According to Amy Landsbaum, one of the waitresses, "The dinner was really good, actually better than what we expected." Following the dinner, diners were treated to entertainment in the student lounge provided by Chorale.

Exchange Students Visit Ladue

The foreign exchange program at Horton Watkins High School, American Field Service (AFS), is an international organization offering students the experience of a year or summer in a foreign country. This program also gives Horton Watkins students a chance to host a foreign exchange student at their house for a year.

This school year Lori and Brian Weinstock are hosting Peta Burchell, an AFS student from Australia. Peta expected to be attending school in Europe, but when she found that she was coming to the United States, she was very excited. Upon her arrival, Peta said, "The first thing I noticed were the cars; they are so square."

Ricardo Vera is another student attending Horton Watkins High School. He is a 16 year old senior from Chillan, a city in Chile, and is staying with senior Jeff Harlan and his family.

There is a big difference between the United States and Chile's school system. "The students in Chile don't change classes. Instead, the teachers goes from class to class," Ricardo said. The reason Ricardo choose to come to America is "There are more opportunities and more diversification in the USA."

Ladue's Own Summer Travel

A group of Horton Watkins students, chaperoned by Mr. Roy Johnson, social studies teacher, experienced the life and beauty of six European countries and the Greek Islands during the summer in 1983. Mr. Johnson has been accompaning students to Europe for 11 years. Going with Mr. Johnson on his latest venture was Sally Degener, Dawn and Graham Elswick, Linda Kohle, Jennifer Knight, and Vince Rehme. The tour lasted 35 days, and according to the participants was enjoyed very much.

Another facinating way to spend the summer is be tourning Japan, China, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Nanking, Peking, Tokyo, Honolulu, and San Francisco. This is exactly what 24 Horton Watkins students, parents, and teachers experienced this past summer. The trip was affiliated with the American Institute for Foreign Study, and was led by Ms. Edith Nolting, Ms. Suzanne Queensen, and Mr. Vic Bassman. According to Ms. Queensen, the purpose of the trip was to compare the cultures of the Orient. Any adult, high school, or college student is eligible to take this trip; the individual does not have to be affiliated with Ladue.

Model Senate Meets Again

Sponsors for this year's Model Senate were Mr. Ralph Cordell and Mrs. Thelma Edelstein. The officers were Carol Losos as president, Robert Brundage as president pro-tem, Teri Bretsnider and Cathy Banashek as secretaries, and serving as committee chairpersons were Cathy Spong, John Wellner, Dan Dertke, and Jeff Crespin.

The Model Senate is held in December, and at this time the students involved learn and use the system and procedures of the U.S. Senate. The young senators are placed in to four different committees on the issues of Intelligence, Energy and the Environment, Agriculture, and Foreign Relations. The committees meet for four hours and the students write bills which are submitted into the senate session. These bills are discussed and the good and bad points of each bill are debated.

Issues discussed this year were the nuclear theater in West Europe, the nuclear freeze, covert aid to nations, restructuring of the primary system, length of the terms of government officials, student aid, merit pay, and computer crime.

Student Congress Plans

The Student Congress, under the leadership of Wendy Gelman, started slowly this year but picked up as the year progressed. There were several activities planned by Student Congress with one of them being a student exchange with John Burroughs High School.

Student Congress is an organization that gives students a chance to discuss ideas and topics they feel are important. Some of the topics discussed this year, for example, were the possibility of having an open campus, having a soda machine in the cafeteria, and being able to continue wearing walkmans at school.

Some changes have taken place in Student Congress this year. David Korn, president of the junior class, said, "We are trying to reorganize Student Congress to make it run more productively and efficiently." The plan of Student Congress is to change or improve school policies the members feel would be beneficial to both faculty and students.

Political Groups At School

There are two political clubs at Horton Watkins High School — the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats. The Young Democrats are sponsored by Mr. David Matter and Ms. Eleanor Caffrey. The Young Republicans have as their sponsor Mr. Ralph Cordell. During election years both clubs become fairly active, but often are more subdued in non-election years.

The members of the Young Democrats sponsored a booth at the Scholarship Carnival this year. The Club also had a candy sale hoping they could raise enough money to take a trip to Jefferson City. Earlier, members were asked by Mr. Jim Blair to work in an election in Iowa. No one went but Mr. Matter said, "At least we were approached."

The Young Republicans are basically trying to keep interest in the Club alive. Mr. Cordell stated that the students need to get out and learn to work the machines. "I'm really a pusher of organization," said Mr. Cordell; "One has to start at the grass roots level if he wishes to get into politics."

Blood Drive Nets 112 Pints

The annual blood drive at Horton Watkins High School was held in the gymnasium this year on January 30. The amount of blood collected this year was 112 pints, down from last year's total of 133 pints. More than 112 students and faculty members signed up to donate blood, but some individuals could not be used because of medical reasons.

The procedure of donating blood is quite simple and only takes approximately 10 minutes once the person is approved to be a donor; however, a few minutes are set aside after the donation for rest and consumption of juice and perhaps a bit of food such as cookies.

Senior Robert Peskind gets his blood type checked by a Red Cross volunteer so he can become a donor.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Where Gals Ask Guys

The Sadie Hawkins Dance was held this year on Saturday, February 11, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the reconstructed school cafeteria. Music was provided by a disc-jockey from one of the St. Louis radio stations.

This dance is sponsored by Panorama, the school newspaper staff, in which any profits help to defray the publication costs. This is not the traditional type dance where the boy ask the girl; for Sadie Hawkins, the roles are reversed and the girl ask the boy for the date and usually pays the way. In most cases the couples go out to dinner and then attend the dance, with many couples then going to a party following the dance.

Rambler Staff Tries Again

The Rambler staff for this year consisted of 19 people: 11 seniors, 7 juniors, and 1 sophomore — the first sophomore ever to be on the staff.

Many individuals do not realize all the work that a yearbook staff puts into producing a yearbook. Staying up until the early morning hours to make a layout, write copy, and crop photographs was not an unusual situation. The photographers were responsible for attending events, photographing them, and producing photos for the other staff members to use in the book. In addition, every staff member was assigned an ad territory to cover to secure ads needed to help defray yearbook production costs. After all this, Mr. Watson, adviser, checked all copy, photographs, and layouts before sending them into the plant in Topeka, Kansas.

Some of the staff members attended the annual National Journalism Convention held this year at the Riverfront Towers in St. Louis. This convention drew 1600 people from throughout the midwest and taught the participants the "do's and don'ts" of a yearbook and newspaper, that proved to be beneficial.

Literary Works Published

Crescendo is the literary magazine of Horton Watkins High School. The magazine, which is published in the spring, contains poems, prose, art work, and photographs done by Crescendo members. The staff meets frequently on Wednesday evenings for a dinner and to discuss writings that are turned in.

This year's editor is Arlene Boxerman. Sponsors of Crescendo are Mrs. Marie Smith and Mrs. Kay Rehr.

The magazine is free to students and faculty alike and can be obtained in various locations around school.

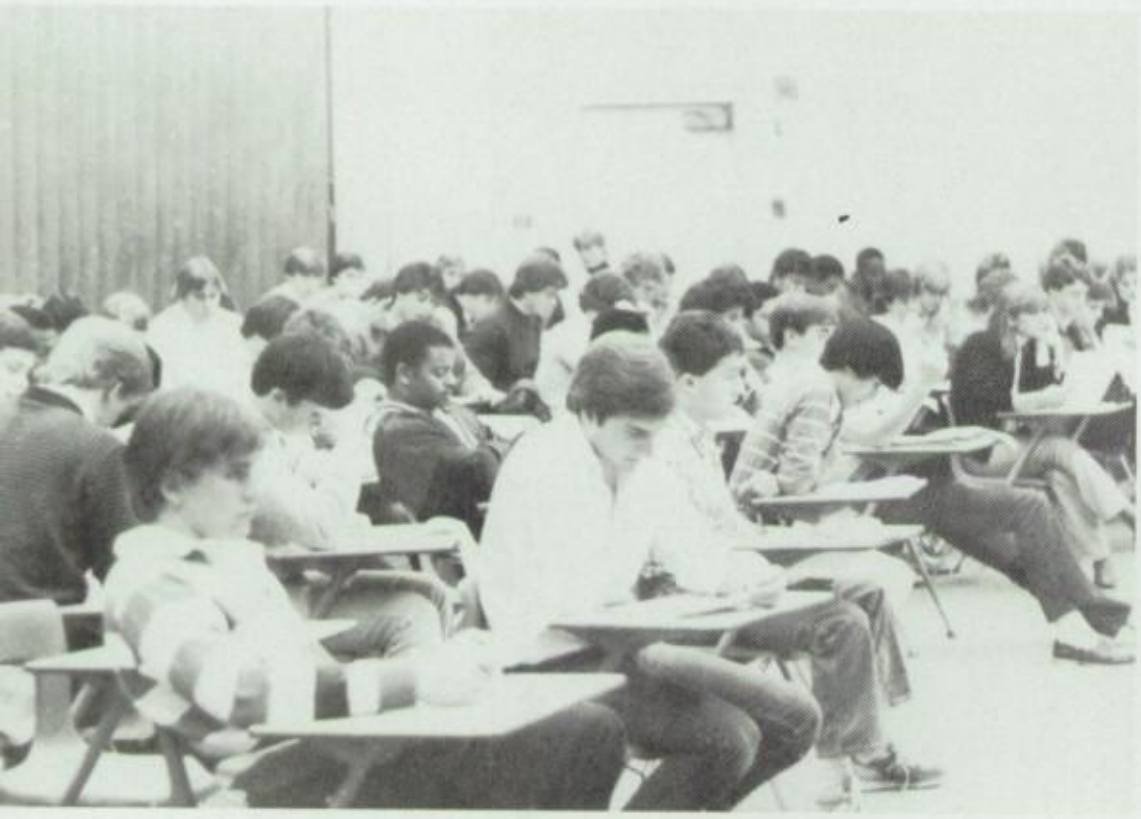
L-Club Promotes Spirit; School Store Helps All

The L-Club is a new organization to Horton Watkins High School. Formed this year, it is open to lettermen and letterwomen, and uses as its main function to promote school spirit. Approximately 150 students have joined the club in its first year. To become a letterman or a letterwoman, one has to earn at least one letter in any one sport. To have earned at least one letter is the only requirement to become in member in the L-Club, one of the largest clubs at the high school.

The School Store moved into new quarters this year. The Store, sponsored by Mrs. Gisela McKenna, is now located in the old attendance office next to the nurses' office. Open every day before school and sometimes after school, the students who work in the store sell all kinds of supplies such as paper, pencils, folders, etc. and at student discounts.



Some of the lettermen and letterwomen who attended the organizational meeting of the L-Club read the rules.

Big Brothers And Big Sisters

The Big Sisters Club and the Big Brothers Club are both made up of sophomores, juniors and seniors who help incoming freshmen get more acquainted with the high school. The freshman are given tips and advice on items as diverse as finding their classrooms to how to make new friends. In addition the Big Brothers and Sisters answer any questions the freshmen may have.

Sponsor of Big Sisters is Mrs. Jean Gordon and officers are Leah Eisen, Jill Garvey, Wendy Gelman, Evan Raskas, and Elizabeth Sippy.

Sponsor of Big Brothers is Dr. Richard Eaton and officers are Todd Hart, Todd Meyers, Fred Scherrer, and Rich Steinbaum.

Two Clubs Center On Food

The second year of the Home Economics Club proved very successful, according to sponsors Mrs. Jill Svejkosky and Mrs. Doris Ogier. The Club meets at least once a month engaging in activities such as microwave oven demonstration for students and faculty, making diabetic cookies for the Red Cross, and collecting toy for children during the holiday season. Club members also went on various field trips during the year. For those interesting in making and creating things, the Home Economics Club would be of interest to you.

The dictionary defines "gourmet" as "a person who likes and is a judge of fine foods and drinks." The Gourmet Club is made of a group of friends that share a common interest in gourmet cooking. The members meet at least once a month to share in fine food and drink, cooking and creating delicious meals. This is the first year for the club; but if the food is as delicious as the members maintain, then this organization should continue to grow in numbers.

So if food is of any interest to you, then perhaps you should grab your knife and fork and join either the Home Economics Club or the Gourmet Club or perhaps even both.

Olympics Theme Of Carnival

The Scholarship Fund Carnival this year was entitled "The Official Carnival of the 1984 Olympics." This was a tribute to both the winter Olympics held in Sarajevo and the sunner Olympics to be held in Los Angeles.

Some of the booths set up this year included the Kissing Booth sponsored by the seniors, a Sports Trivia Booth sponsored by Panorama, a Bubblegum Blowing Contest Booth hosted by the freshmen, and a Picture Print-out Booth run by the Computer Club.

As always several varieties of food were available sponsored by various groups. The annual Faculty Frovilities auction topped off the activities. Summing up the event, Carolyn Sarian said "Being able to contribute by working gave me a great sense of accomplishement.

'Oklahoma' Thrills Crowd

The musical presented this year was "Oklahoma," one of the longest running musical on Broadway in New York. According to many of those who were in the cast at Ladue, this was an enjoyable play and they relished haveing a part in it.

Performances were held on two consecutive Friday and Saturday nights but not on the originally scheduled weedends because of the unexpected snow storm which struck the area and caused cancellation of school for awhile.

As usual the cast and crews did a fine job on an enjoyable musical.

Fall Play Runs Two Nights

The fall play this year was "You Can't Take It With You," written by Moss Hart and George S. Kauffman. The play was performed on two nights — November 18 and 19, and had a cast of 20 students representing all four grades.

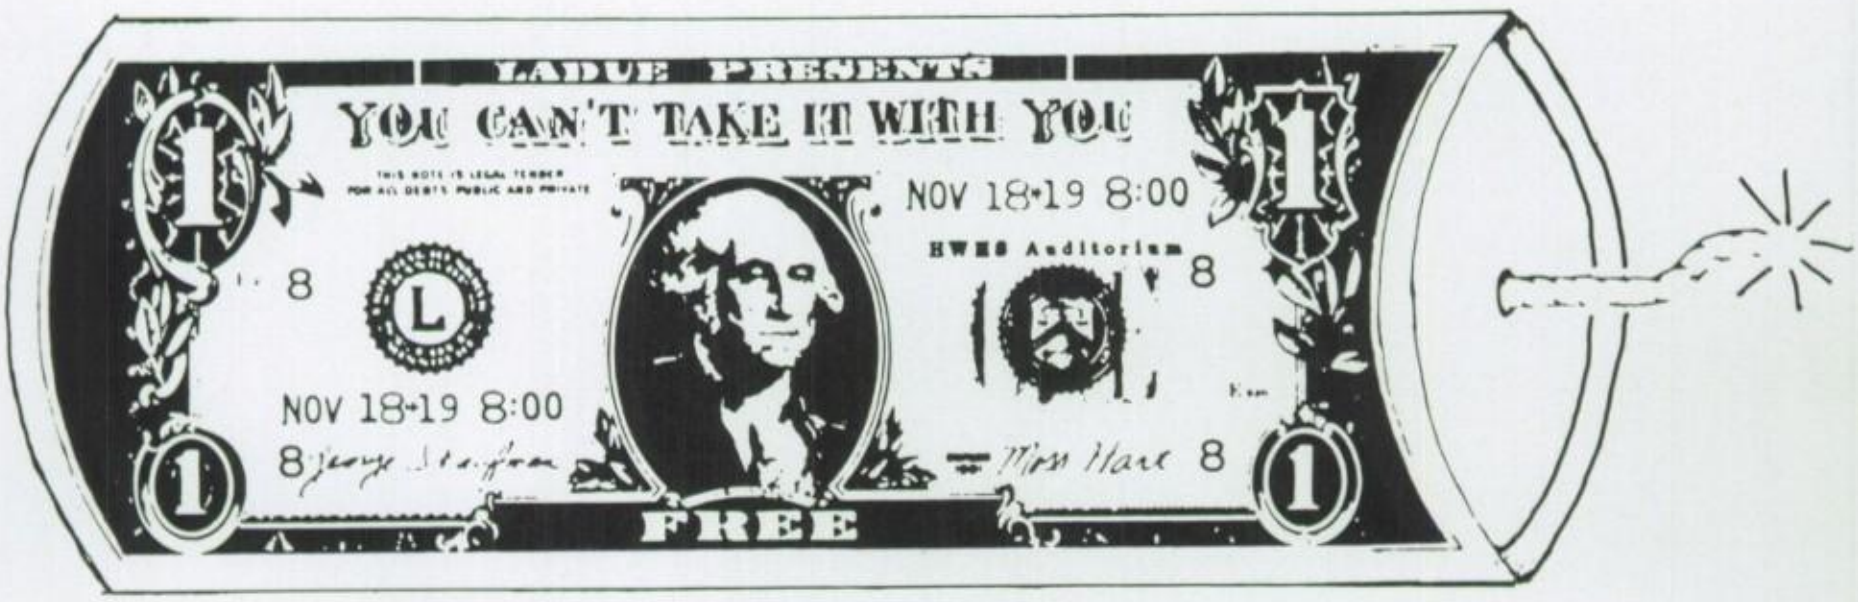
"You Can't Take It With You" is basically a love story about a girl from a very eccentric family who falls in love with a boy from a very wealthy family. The setting is in New York and takes place within an eight day span.

The play proved to be both amusing and entertaining as well as informative. Mrs. Ann Jacobs was the director with technical direction by Mr. Phil Murray.

The Cast: Penelope Sycamore (Sara Rubin); Essie (Sherri Boonshaft); Rheba (Kristin Gittleman); Paul Sycamore (Jim McKinley); Mr. DePinna (Andrew Haber); Ed (Clayton Hicks); Donald (Leigh Robertson); Martin Vanderhof (Scott Esserman); Alice (Carrie Hallett); Henderson (Broderick Pritchett); Mr. Kolenkhov (Mike Zucker); Gay Wellington (Liz Goldstein); Mr. Kirby (Chris Jaworski); Mrs. Kirby (Peg O'Brien); The Agent (John Smith); The Three Men (Sean Smith, Eric Dillner, Lorne Baker); Olga Katrina (Karen Becker); Tony Kirby (John Geisz).

Essie (Sherri Boonshaft) rests a spell after performing a difficult ballet number.

Penelope Sycamore (Sara Rubin) babbles on to Gay "the lush" Wellington (Liz Goldstein) in one of the humourous scene from "You Can't Take It With You."



Mr. Kolenkhov (Mike Zucker) assists Essis (Sherri Boonshaft) with a ballet step in the fall play "You Can't Take It With You."

Mrs. Ann Jacobs, drama teacher, uses her artistic talents to make Sara Rubin look ten years older for her role of Penelope Sycamore.

Mr. DePinna (Andrew Haber) displays his uniform for the day — a toga — for his part in the play.

Tony Kirby (John Geisz), Mrs. Kirby (Peg O'Brien), and Mr. Kirby (Chris Jaworski) arrive at the Vanderhofs for dinner.

Various Clubs At Ladue

"Accent" is a magazine published by a group of students enrolled in the foreign language classes. Stories and poems are written in Hebrew, Latin, Spanish, French, and German. Once a month students and teachers involved with this club met for dinner, which was prepared by one of the language groups, and discussed the articles received for the publication. The Accent Club was sponsored by the foreign language teachers.

An academic competitive event was held in Los Angeles the last week in April, pitting Decathalon teams from all over the country against each other. Representing Horton Watkins High School in this event were two juniors and four seniors. Participants went through ten different events which included taking six written tests, giving a speech, writing an essay, and being interviewed. Later the students went through a final quiz.

The Stockmarket Club just began this year at Horton Watkins with only one member. Although the club was small, Mr. Rex Freter, the club sponsor, has high hopes that once students hear about the club, membership will grow.

Band, Orchestra, Vocal Music Present Concerts

Students and teachers in the Horton Watkins High School band, orchestra and vocal groups have performed several concerts this year as they usually do. One of the concerts this year was held at the Junior High School for students and faculty, and was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Such concerts offer the students an opportunity to display their skills learned in their classes in music. The students and teachers spend many hours in practice during and after school hours perfecting their crafts, and welcome the chances to perform before appreciative groups.

Mrs. Jo Anne Smiley is the vocal groups teacher, Mr. Mike Fanelli is the orchestra director, and Mr. Tom Poshak is the director of the bands.

Vocal Groups Sing Out

The vocal groups at Horton Watkins High School were involved in many and varied activities this year. For example, Chorale went on the annual singing tour again with scheduled performances taking the members to Sikeston, Missouri, then on to Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi, and eventually to Panama City Beach, Florida. To raise money for this tour, Chorale members went to Bristol's (a restaurant) and sang for a fund raiser. Bristol owners presented Chorale a certificate for dinner, and the Chorale members took fifty cent donations for a chance to win the dinner. Chorale also sold green carnations, on St. Patrick's Day, sang singing telegrams on Valentine's Day, and held a car wash in order to make the southern trip, in which they sang at various high schools, hotels, shopping centers, and colleges.

Choraliers is a mixed chorus which performed Winter and Spring concerts at the High School. Choraliers also sang at the International Dinner.

Concert Chorus is an all girls chorus. They also performed at Winter and Spring concerts. Mrs. Jo Anne Smiley is director of all three vocal groups.

Mrs. Smiley emphasizes the way the song is to be sung to one of her vocal groups.

Hockey Rams Finish 14-4-2

The ice hockey Rams ended the season with a winning record of 14-4-2. The team had some very strong players such as senior John Olney and junior Craig Brown. Sophomore Richard Shaw also did a fine job as goalie. Freshman David Poger also added a lot to the team, and the entire team seemed to work together aggressively. Because of a couple of injuries, the Rams could not work up to their full potential. The team made it to the playoffs, but were defeated by Parkway West 6-5 in a well- played game. Overall the hockey Rams had a good season and bearing an injury or two, could have done even better.

Video Lab In Operation; Rifle Team Keeps Firing

Two of the many groups at Horton Watkins High School are the Rifle team and students in the Video Lab and Graphic Arts Lab. Whereas the Rifle team and other shooting sports teams have been in existence for several years, the Video and Graphic Labs are new, this being the initial year of existence.

Rifle team members use the Rifle Range at the high school and Trap and Skeet members usually go to a range in Brigeton for practice. Mr. Patton sponsors both organizations.

Video Lab and Graphic Lab students help in processing orders for video equipment and in taping video instruction. Graphic Arts Lab students assist in anything graphic such as posters, artwork, etc.

Computers/Chess Equal Logic

The Chess Club consists of five seniors. They prefer to be thought of as a team and not as a club. "Chess is as much a sport as water polo," say the players. Chess requires a lot of skill and logic in order to beat an opponent. "This year is a Ladue legacy in chess," said Mike O'Brien. Ms. Pauline Schroeder is the club sponsor.

The Computer Club consists of students from all four grades. The club members get together and learn and share their knowledge about computer science. "It gives you a chance to meet new people and learn more about new games," said freshman Phil Cryer. Mr. Larry Rhoads is sponsor.

Outdoors, Airplanes Draw Interests Of Membership

The Wilderness Club got off to a late start this year. Nevertheless, the members did hold several meetings before the start of the school day and discussed plans for the year. One of the club's activities consisted of viewing a film on wild wolves. Clarksville, Missouri was the site of one of the trips taken by club members to watch eagles near the Mississippi River. The group also planned a canoe trip in the spring. Heather Craddock said she joined the Wilderness Club because of her love for the outdoors. Sponsors for the club are Ms. Pauline Schroeder and Mr. Ken Van Buren.

For those interested in flying, the Aviation Club may be your cup of tea. Club members very often meet on Tuesdays and Wednesdays for ground school. Topics covered in ground school include learning about flying cross country, radio communications, how an airplane basically works, and FAA regulations. Plans called for the members to be a crew for a hot air balloon; in the spring club members got a chance to fly a plane. Mr. Charles Marshll is the sponsor.

Image Seeks All Members

Image Incorporated is the new name for the former Black Image Club. The new name came about because the group would like to have all students involved regardless of race.

Sponsors of the club are Mr. Roy Johnson, Mrs. Aralean Brown, and Mrs. Cynthia Howard. Image Incorporated officers this year were Lisa Manns, president; Yvonne Shields, vice-president; Mary Mann, treasurer; Donyeer Jones, secretary.

The club members did basically what they did last year: holding their annual dance in November, raising money to sponsor events for Black History month, and bringing in speakers so the student body could learn more about Black culture.

According to Yvonne Shields, Image Incorporated set high goals with some of the goals being reached and some not. "I hope in years to come that the future officers will meet these goals. I wish them all success," said the club's vice-president.

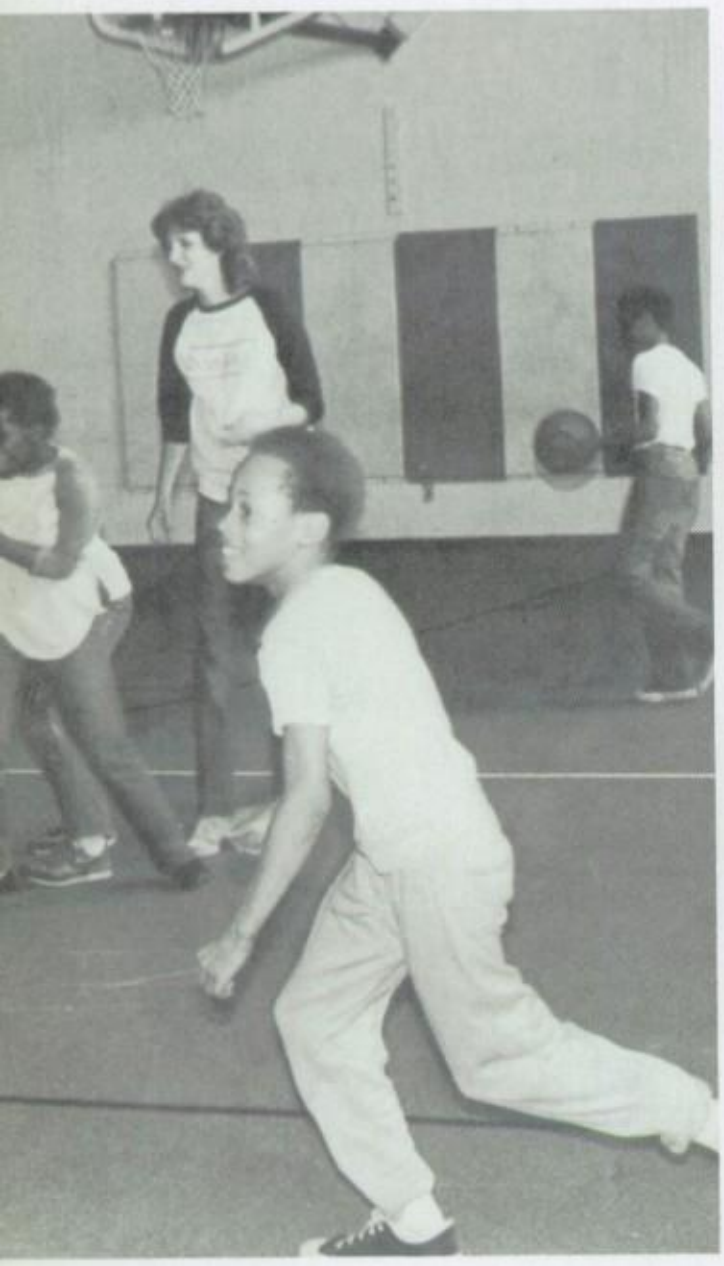
Students Teach Students

The Saturday Project is made up of a special group of people from Horton Watkins High School — students and teachers — who devote their Saturday afternoons once a month to the kids from Banneker Elementary School. These youngsters range from the third to the sixth grade, who are brought to the high school to engage in activities organized and overseen by the high school personnel.

At the start of the afternoon, everyone sings and gets acquainted. Then everyone breaks into one of three groups with the kids spending 40 minutes with each group. The three groups are physical activity, artistic activity, and educational activity. The physical activity consists of an event such as swimming or basketball. The artistic activity involves such items as painting or making ornaments. The educational activity includes learning to put on small plays, spelling bees, and word searches.

At the conclusion of all three activities, everyone meets for a snack. Liz Goldstein says, "It is a good experience for us and for them too."



Jill Siegfried trys to teach the kids the finer points of playing basketball.

Giving Abounds At Ladue

Shortly before the winter vacation each year, the annual canned food drive takes place at Horton Watkins High School. This drive involves students and faculty and encourages food and clothing items to be brought into school and later given to Otis Woodard who distributes the items to the poor. This year approximately 5,500 cans of food were collected, four large plastic bags of winter clothes and warm jackets brought in, and, in addition, one ton of meat (chicken and beef) was bought. Mr. Jeff Kopolow was in charge of candy sales in which Freshmen who sold the candy brought in about $1,000 which went to the canned food drive. The main driving force behind the entire food drive operation was Mrs. Marie Smith who worked tirelessly on this project.

The Christmas Stocking Club, sponsored by Mrs. Kay Rehr, devotes its energy to helping those at Truman Restorative Center and the elderly. The members collect money which is used to buy such items as slippers, cookies, and tissues, and then deliver the items stuffed in stockings to the Center and entertain the people there by singing to them.

NHS Provides Aid For Teachers

The National Honor Society is an organization which is, basically, composed of students with a grade point average of 3.0 or better. These students, however, also have to have leadership skills and recommendations from teachers. They are then reviewed by a panel of teachers who either accept or reject the students. Once accepted, they must be initiated; juniors are initiated in the spring and seniors are initiated in the fall. The initiations include candlelight ceremonies and picnics at Tillis Park. Now that the students have become members, their tasks include helping teachers, working Open House, running change days, and tutoring students. This year, the main people who kept the National Honor Society "going strong" were the sponsors, Mr. George Glass and Mrs. Edith Nolting, along with President Fred Scherrer, Vice President Arlene Boxerman, Treasurer Bobby Peskind, and Chief Marshall Carol Losos. All of these people, along with the rest of the NHS members, represented our school with intelligence and enthusiasm, which simply adds to our great school.

Editor's Note:

This is generally the place where the editor thanks all of his colleagues for their help in what appeared at one time to be an impossible task. As editor I had many doubts about the completion of this book. I don't believe any member of the staff can honestly claim that fifth hour in room 10 was the high point of his or her day. If anyone can, my next question is "Why?"

The production of Rambler was definitely a challenge. In its seven months of production, we all dealt with much frustration and at times a feeling of defeat. However, we accomplished two goals. Aside from the completion of the book, we also stuck together. That, to us, was the greatest obstacle we possibly could have overcome.

I will not mention individuals deserving credit for the completion of this yearbook. In all projects begun, there are always a few dedicated individuals who carry the burden to the bitter end. That was the case here and those individuals have already been thanked. However, there are other individuals responsible for making this book possible. Mr. Jim Combs, our representative from Jostens/American Yearbook Company, very patiently endured our many delays and helped us in selecting the format of our book. Mr. Jerry Watson, our adviser, did much more than his share, working many late nights in order to make it the best annual possible.

I have learned several very important things from being editor of the 1984 Rambler. Encouragement, coaching, and understanding are all important factors in a project such as this. The best advice I can give to our successors is don't get discouraged, and keep your eyes on your goal. Be patient, work hard, and when those tough moments arise, grin and bear it.

your still the little guy to me
(Although I shouldn't be throwing stones)

You have been exceptional strange this year + It's going to be quiet without you around. Who am I going to get for a riding partner now when I get that old urge to run into
Mrs. at Mcdonalds?

Do Boogs, (remember that)
